

What is Mental Health Court?

The Collin County Adult Mental Health Court (AMHC) is a voluntary, court-supervised initiative lasting between 9–24 months. It is designed to support individuals with mental health conditions who have been charged with certain criminal offenses. The program connects participants with treatment, case management, and community resources to promote stability, reduce recidivism, and support long-term recovery. By addressing the root cause of justice involvement, AMHC provides an opportunity for participants to receive the support they need while improving public safety and overall well-being.
