Why the Honoree is receiving a GEM Award including dates:

On July 14, 2014 when it was time to go home and everyone was wrapping up for the day we had a last minute client that came to the immunization clinic. The client was an elderly lady whom was immunocompromised and frail. She had sent a family member inside to inquire about getting a Tdap vaccination before she attempted to get out of the car, since it was pouring down rain outside. Carla's compassionate, caring; never meets a stranger attitude exhibited a work ethic that should be seen more often, without thinking twice about it she offered to go outside and administer the vaccination regardless of the rain. She told the family member that she would administer the vaccination curbside so that the elderly lady could stay seated in her car and not get wet. The elderly lady and family member were so thankful for her compassion and assistance.
