Why the Honoree is receiving a GEM Award including dates:

Since joining Public Works, Brent Rollins has developed a reputation as a dependable and reliable employee. Recently, he volunteered to teach a Commercial Driver's License class for new department employees seeking to gain their CDL. This translates to a huge benefit for the department since hiring people with a CDL has become increasingly competitive. The state requires applicants to obtain 40 hours of classroom instruction before attempting the written exam. Teaching a CDL class dictates a thorough understanding of the material as well as extensive preparation including developing lesson plans, printing study guides, etc. Brent's selfless offer to teach the new employees expedited their ability to schedule the exam and saved the department money.

For his generosity and willingness to mentor new employees, I nominate Brent Rollins for the GEM award.
