Why the Honoree is receiving a GEM Award including dates:

This is written to request that Commander Jim Moody receive a Collin County Going the Extra Mile (GEM) award for his work on the "furniture refresh" project. According to the County website, the purpose of the GEM award is to recognize county employees who "volunteer for an extra or emergency assignment while maintaining one's own workload," "use personal initiative and creativity to solve an unusual problem," and "produce a work product of exceptionally high quality under tight deadlines." Commander Moody's efforts on the furniture refresh project check all three of these boxes. Commander Moody volunteered to take on this assignment despite the fact that the associated tasks fall outside of the job description for his position. On numerous occasions, while working on this project, he demonstrated personal initiative and creativity to resolve problems and did so on short deadlines while maintaining his daily workload. For these reasons I recommend Commander Moody receive a Collin County GEM award.
